How do we process your data?

The processing of personal data is an essential part of insurance activities. The insurer treats the data of the insured person as completely confidential and complies with the provisions of the Federal Data Protection Act (FADP) and Ordinance when processing and storing personal data. The personal data processed by the insurer includes data relating to the conclusion of the contract and the policy/claims handling. In the first instance, information on the policyholder or insured persons is taken from the insurance application and claims statement. In the interests of all policyholders, data may also be shared with previous insurers and reinsurers within and outside Switzerland. The insurer also processes personal data in connection with product enhancements as well as for its own marketing purposes. In order to enable Allianz Assistance to offer comprehensive insurance cover and to keep costs to a minimum, some of the services are provided by legally independent companies within and outside Switzerland. These may be Allianz Group companies or partners. For the purposes of fulfilling its contractual obligations, Allianz Assistance must share data both within and outside the group. The data are stored electronically or physically in compliance with legal provisions. The insured persons have the right to access their data and,

200 Common provisions

Article 201 Who is insured?

The member on the ACS membership card is insured, together with all the people living in the same household or regularly returning to the household as weekly or weekend residents and the member's children who are minors and who do not live in the same household, provided that their place of residence under civil law at the time of the insured event is in Switzerland or the Principality of Liechtenstein.

Article 202 What conditions apply to members who are resident abroad?

Changes to the member's residence or company headquarters must be reported to the relevant ACS section. The insurance provided for ACS members who are resident outside Switzerland and the Principality of Liechtenstein consists only of roadside assistance and only covers insured events that occur in Switzerland or the Principality of Liechtenstein. Vehicles registered in the name of the ACS member with a permissible maximum weight up to 3.5 tonnes regardless of where they are registered. The "damage assessment" and "repayable advance" benefits are not provided, notwithstanding articles 304.8 and 304.9. The repaired, unrepaired or recovered vehicle (article 304.10) will be returned to a garage in Switzerland.

Article 203 Start, duration and end of insurance cover for the insured person

The insurance cover starts when the ACS membership is taken out, providing that the membership fee has been paid. When ACS membership is taken out for the first time, temporary insurance cover is provided from the date when the application is submitted to the relevant ACS section. The insurance cover is automatically extended by one year, provided that the ACS membership has not been terminated in writing (e.g. letter, e-mail) at least three months before the end of the membership year by notifying the relevant ACS section and that the membership fee has been paid. The insurance cover for the insured person lapses when the group insurance contract between Allianz Assistance and the ACS ends. The ACS has the right to exclude members with an above-average level of claims from the insurance cover. The member will be informed in writing one month in advance and has the right to terminate their ACS membership on the exclusion date. Members of the ACS can be excluded from the insurance cover if they have reported serious material risks incorrectly or failed to disclose them (breach of the duty to report).

No benefits will be provided if the ACS membership fee has not been paid at the time when the insured event occurs. None of the insurance components provide insurance cover for events that had already occurred when the policy was taken out or the trip was booked or the booked service had started; the same applies to events which could have been foreseen when the policy was taken out or the trip was booked or the booked service had started.

- Furthermore, there is no cover for events such as suicide or attempted suicide, participation in strikes or unrest, participation in races or training sessions with motor vehicles or boats, participation in hazardous activities where the insured person knowingly exposes themselves to danger or grossly negligent or premeditated actions or failure to act.
- In addition, war and incidents involving nuclear, biological or chemical substances including the consequences of these incidents are not insured. The consequences of official rulings, e.g. confiscation of assets, imprisonment, ban on leaving the country or closure of airspace, are also not insured.
- The following events and their consequences are not insured: Epidemics and pandemics, except where explicitly defined as insured in article 400: Cancellation costs and in article 502, article 504.1, article 504.5 and article 504.6 that form part of article 500: Travel insurance.
- The insured person can only claim the full range of roadside assistance benefits if Allianz Assistance has previously given its consent to the benefits or if the roadside assistance or recovery has been organised by Allianz Assistance. Otherwise the benefits are limited to CHF 300. See article 205.
- The insurance for cancellation costs does not include cover for “poor healing”, including illnesses or the consequences of an accident, an operation or a medical treatment that already existed at the time of booking the trip or taking out the insurance and that the insured person has not recovered from by the departure date; the same applies to cancellations of trips by the travel company, official orders (except where explicitly defined as insured in article 400: Cancellation costs), illnesses/accidents not immediately diagnosed by a doctor at the time of occurrence or psychological reactions attributable to potential hazards, such as fears of unrest, acts of terror, natural disasters or aviophobia (fear of flying).
- No benefits are provided as part of the travel insurance cover unless the Allianz Assistance emergency call centre has agreed to the benefits in advance; the same applies, for example, if the travel company responsible fails to provide the contractual services or provides only part of them; the same applies if the insured person travelled to the destination contrary to advice from the government of their home country issued in connection with an epidemic/pandemic or contrary to the advice of the local authorities.
- The cover for use of rental cars does not give any entitlement to benefits for losses resulting from gross negligence by the driver, losses arising from a breach of the contract with the car rental company or losses where the insurance in question does not involve an excess.

Article 205 When are the benefits limited to CHF 300 or when is there an excess?

Benefits limited to CHF 300

If only one of several assistance measures was not organised, arranged or implemented by the customer service centre, the compensation under roadside assistance and travel insurance cover is restricted to CHF 300 for all the benefits combined. This restriction does not apply to cancellation costs, driving third-party motor vehicles, use of rental vehicles and legal protection insurance cover.

Deductible for cancellation costs

The insured person must pay a deductible of CHF 180 per claim.

Article 208 When must advances be repaid?

Advances must be paid within 30 days of the insured person returning to their place of residence and at the latest within 60 days of payment.

Article 209 What happens in the case of multiple insurance?

In the event of (voluntary or mandatory) multiple insurance, Allianz Assistance/Allianz Suisse/CAP Rechtsschutz provide their benefits in a subsidiary capacity, subject to there being an identical clause in the other insurance contract. In a case of this kind, the legal provisions concerning double insurance apply. If an insured person is entitled to benefits under any other (voluntary or mandatory) insurance contract, cover is restricted to that part of the Allianz Assistance/Allianz Suisse/CAP Rechtsschutz benefits that exceeds the cover provided under the other insurance contract. Overall costs are reimbursed once only. If Allianz Assistance/Allianz Suisse/CAP Rechtsschutz provides benefits despite an existing subsidiarity situation, these benefits are considered to be an advance and the insured person or beneficiary will cede their claims against the third party (voluntary or mandatory insurance) to Allianz Assistance/Allianz Suisse/CAP Rechtsschutz to this extent. If the insured or entitled person has been compensated by a liable third party or the third party's insurer, any compensation due under this contract is rendered void. If a claim is made against Allianz Assistance/Allianz Suisse/CAP Rechtsschutz instead of the liable party, the insured or entitled person must cede their liability claims up to the extent of the compensation received from Allianz Assistance/Allianz Suisse/CAP Rechtsschutz.

Article 210 Compensation for brokers

If a third party, e.g. a broker, represents the interests of the insured person for the purposes of taking out or managing an ASC Service Package, it is possible that Allianz Assistance will pay this third party a fee for their activities on the basis of an agreement with them. If the insured person would like more information about this, they should contact the third party.

The Swiss Insurance Policies Act (IPA) applies in addition to these provisions. Article 212 Which legal provisions apply?

The provisions of the Swiss Insurance Policies Act (IPA) of 2 April 1908 apply. For insurance policies in the Principality of Liechtenstein, the provisions of the Insurance Policies Act (VersVG) of 16 May 2001 also apply.

Article 401 Where does the insurance cover apply?

The insurance cover applies worldwide (including Switzerland and the Principality of Liechtenstein).

Cancellation costs

If the insured person cancels the contract with the travel company due to an insured event, Allianz Assistance will pay the contractual cancellation costs up to the insured amount. Any costs that the insured person is charged for rebooking services before the cancellation will be covered only if the rebooking is caused by an insured event. No compensation will be paid for costs, fees or credit reductions resulting from the loss or forfeiture of air miles, prize awards or other rights of use (time-sharing etc.).

Delayed departure

If the insured person's departure is delayed due to an insured event, instead of paying the cancellation costs, Allianz Assistance will pay (up to the amount equivalent to the cancellation costs):

- the additional travel costs arising from the delayed departure;
- the costs for the unused portion of the stay, as a proportion of the insured package price (without transport costs); the departure day counts as a used day.

Expenses incurred for disproportionate or recurrent handling charges or insurance premiums will not be reimbursed.

The insured person must pay a deductible of CHF 180 per claim.

The cost of event tickets that do not form part of a package is covered without a deductible being charged. The definition of a trip in article 206 does not apply.

Article 403 Which events are insured?

Insurance cover is provided if one of the following events occurs before the booked service starts:

403.1 Serious illness, serious accident, complications of pregnancy or death

Serious illness (including diagnosis of an epidemic or pandemic disease such as COVID-19), a serious accident, complications of pregnancy or the death of one of the following people, provided the event in question occurred after the date of booking or after the insurance was taken out:

- the insured person;
- a person travelling with the insured person who booked the same trip and cancelled;
- a person closely related to the insured person who is not travelling;
- a person providing holiday cover in the workplace, provided the insured person's presence is indispensable.

If a number of insured persons have booked the same journey, it can be cancelled for a maximum of six persons if an accompanying insured person cancels the journey due to one of the above events.

For mental illness, insurance cover only applies if

- a psychiatrist confirms the person's inability to work and travel and

- the inability to work is documented by a certificate of absence supplied by the employer.

Chronic illness is only covered by the insurance if the trip has to be cancelled due to a medically documented, unexpected acute deterioration. Cover is contingent on the person being able to travel at time of booking or taking out the insurance and demonstrably being in a stable state of health.

403.2 Pregnancy

The cover provided in the case of pregnancy is as follows:

- If the person became pregnant after booking the trip and the return journey is after the 24th week of pregnancy.
- If the person became pregnant after booking the trip and a vaccination is required for the destination which would pose a risk to the unborn child.

If the insured person's property is seriously damaged at their permanent residence as a result of burglary or damage caused by fire, water or natural hazards and the insured person's presence is required at home during the planned trip.

403.4 Theft of passport

If the insured person's passport or identity card is stolen just before the trip and, as a result, the insured person is unable to travel. Note: There are emergency passport offices at some airports.

403.5 End of an employment relationship

If the insured person's employment relationship is terminated through no fault of their own within the last 30 days before the start of the trip.

403.6 Unexpected start of a new job

If the insured person unexpectedly starts a new job within the last 30 days before departure or the unexpected new job starts during the trip.

403.7 Travel warning

If strikes, acts of violence committed against people or property during riotous assemblies, riots or disturbances, or epidemics, or the risk of terrorist acts make it impossible for an insured person or a person travelling with the insured person who booked the trip at the same time to take the trip. We base our decision on the latest information from the Federal Department of Foreign Affairs (FDFA) at the start of the trip if it advises against travel. If the warning had already been issued when the trip was booked, no benefits will be provided.

403.8 Natural disasters

If a natural disaster at the destination puts the insured person's life in danger.

403.9 Illness or accident suffered by a pet

If the insured person's pet has an accident or an illness or the person who was to have cared for the animal is unable to as a result of an accident, illness or death.

403.10 Delay or cancellation of public transport

If the means of public transport used by the insured person to travel to the airport or rail station in Swiss territory is delayed or cancelled and if the insured person is therefore prevented from starting the trip.

403.11 Travel to the starting point

If the private vehicle or taxi used to travel directly to the starting point arranged for the trip becomes unroadworthy due to an accident or breakdown during the journey. Problems with keys or fuel are not insured.

403.12 Summons before a court

If the insured person unexpectedly receives a summons to appear as a witness or a juror in court. The court date must fall within the travel period.

403.13 Quarantine

If the insured person or a person travelling with them on the trip is quarantined before the trip by order or other request of a government or public authority due to a suspicion that the insured person or a person travelling with them has been exposed to an infectious disease (including an epidemic or pandemic disease, such as COVID-19). This does not include quarantine which applies across-the-board or generally to part or all of a population or geographical area, or which applies on the basis of the destination or place of origin or transit of the person affected.

Article 404 What benefits are provided?

404.1 Cancellation costs

If the insured person cancels the contract with the travel company due to an insured event, Allianz Assistance will pay the contractual cancellation costs up to the agreed insured amount. Any costs that the insured person is charged for rebooking services before the cancellation will be covered only if the rebooking is caused by an insured event. No compensation will be paid for costs, fees or credit reductions or forfeiture of air miles, prize awards or other rights of use (time-sharing etc.).

Delayed departure

If the insured person's departure is delayed due to an insured event, instead of paying the cancellation costs, Allianz Assistance will pay (up to the amount equivalent to the cancellation costs):

- the additional travel costs arising from the delayed departure;
- the costs for the unused portion of the stay, as a proportion of the insured package price (without transport costs); the departure day counts as a used day.

Expenses incurred for disproportionate or recurrent handling charges or insurance premiums will not be reimbursed. The cost of event tickets that do not form part of a package is covered without an excess being charged.

404.2 Illness or accident suffered by a pet

If a pet has an accident or becomes ill or the person who was caring for the animal becomes unable to do so during the period of the trip, only the costs of a boarding kennel up to a maximum of CHF 1'000 will be paid.

Article 405 What are the limits of the benefits?

The benefits amount to CHF 15'000 per insured person and event and to a maximum of CHF 60'000 for all the people together.
